Vrtiska's district, made the catch. And that's why people go to see Nebraska football. That's why they go to see Nebraska football. And I'll close. Senator Chambers, you can say all you want to about Tom Osborne, maybe a few of the things are right, but I'll tell you people aren't going to go with you regardless of what you say, 'cause he's, as far as football coaches, he's probably up to the top as far as the treatment he gives his players. Thank you very.... I'd like to take you to a football game some time, Senator Chambers, you like to go to. I remember I offered to take you basketball game a few years ago and you just about caved in, but you didn't. So that ends my discussion of football. Thank you.

SPEAKER KRISTENSEN: Senator Chambers.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: Mr. Speaker and members of the Legislature, Senator Bud Robinson mentioned the things that, in his opinion, people go to football games to see. You know what I see? I see Budge Porter, a young man who became a quadriplegic on a football field at Nebraska. And you know how he was taken to the hospital? They put him on a board and put him in the back of a station wagon and transported him to the hospital and he could not get any assistance of any kind from the university, nothing. That's what I see. While he's watching Tommie Frazier run down the sideline for a touchdown, I'm looking at the blood clots that Tommie Frazier acquired playing football for Nebraska. Senator Bud Robinson didn't mention Turner Gill and the magic that he worked as a quarterback for Nebraska, but I looked at the fact that Turner Gill almost lost a leg playing for Nebraska, and they shot him up on the sidelines so he could continue playing. They may have been playing Iowa State and it was essential that they win that game because in those years Oklahoma was strong, so they injected Turner Gill and kept him in the game. He was staying with one of these so-called...I don't know what they call these families that would take these players in and they had him looked at by a doctor. The team doctor didn't do a good job and I think they took him to New Orleans where it was discovered that were he not treated properly for that injury he could have lost the use of his leg entirely. Those are the things that I see. While Senator Bud Robinson might be watching, to bring us up to date, an Ahman Green running touchdowns, running through the opposing players,
